ROCK HALL

The fishermen are happy at the report of their protest against the proposed measures of the Conservation Commission.

A play, "A Surprise Party at Brinkley's" will be given tomorrow evening at Junior Hall by the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

There are people who always predict a bad storm on St. Patrick's Day. Well, St. Pat fooled them this time. The ground fog fooled many people, too, for we have had a wonderful winter and spring so far. We've had three thunder storms this year, the one of Monday night surprising us a little. Perhaps some will say that was caused by the vernal equinox but surely none will say it is a pre-storm for Maryland Day, Friday.

Joseph Gagalski has purchased through the Rock Hall Realty Company a dwelling on Main Street from R. E. Crew for $4,000.

Owen Selby has been searching the ruins of his father's burned dwelling and recovered quite a number of diamonds that went through the fire without apparent injury. The settings, of course, are ruined.

Rev. W. H. Revelle preached his farewell sermons at the H. E. Church Sunday as he has accepted a call to Trinity Church in Wilmington. He left for the Annual Conference, at Salisbury, yesterday, making first a visit to his mother who lives thirty miles farther south. After five years at his present charge he will be missed and there is not much hope that another preacher and family of singers will be sent here in their stead. The morning text was from Matt. 9:23, "According to your faith be it unto you," the theme being "The measure of your faith." Sunday School had a hundred and seventy-five present, three of whom were visitors. Epworth League was in charge of Miss Mabel Webb, the president, who gave an exposition of the topic for evening and had made some fine selections for the musical numbers.

Wesley and Raum Chapels are holding special services next Sunday. All mothers and fathers are invited to attend the "Family Sunday" worship. All little ones and others who have not been baptised will be extended an invitation at this time. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Dawson, will attend the annual session of the Maryland M. P. Conference that convenes April 10.

STILL IN OUR POCKETS, THOSE HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

If you don't mind getting hot under the collar, read this. You may thank Mr. Garret for digging up the facts, and us for passing along the news. News it is—briefly "truth about our war loans, or our League of Debtors," which Mr. Garret explains fully in The Saturday Evening Post, issue of February 12. In substance he proves, "It has gone far enough."

When the war ended we had bought goods and services of the British Empire totaling $2,500,000,000—for which we had paid in cash. Great Britain had required goods and services of us to the amount of $3,750,000,000—which she had borrowed from us—and $500,000,000 more after the Armistice.

In France, our War Department had required goods and services to the value of $1,750,000,000 which we had paid in cash. France required goods and services of us to the amount of $2,000,000,000—all of which we loaned her—and $1,000,000,000 more after the Armistice.

Europe's hand from Uncle Sam's pockets. And it's high time.

A man known for generous tipping was in the habit of always eating in the same dining room insisted upon having the same waiter—this morning a new colored gentleman came to take his order.

"What's become of George? He's my regular waiter."

"Well suh, Gawge ain't agoin' to serve you any moah. He and I done shot craps for yoah—and I wins."

"I'm having my face lifted," yelled the flapper softly, as her cave man handed her an uppercut.

"If we're going to the Billritz's Ball—I'll need a new evening dress, dear," said the doctor's wife.

"Well I'll see. Old man Gold-bagg has sore throat—maybe I can change it to appendicitis."

Little Fellow: "Pa, it's raining." Dad: "Well, let it rain." Little Fellow: "I was going to, Pa."

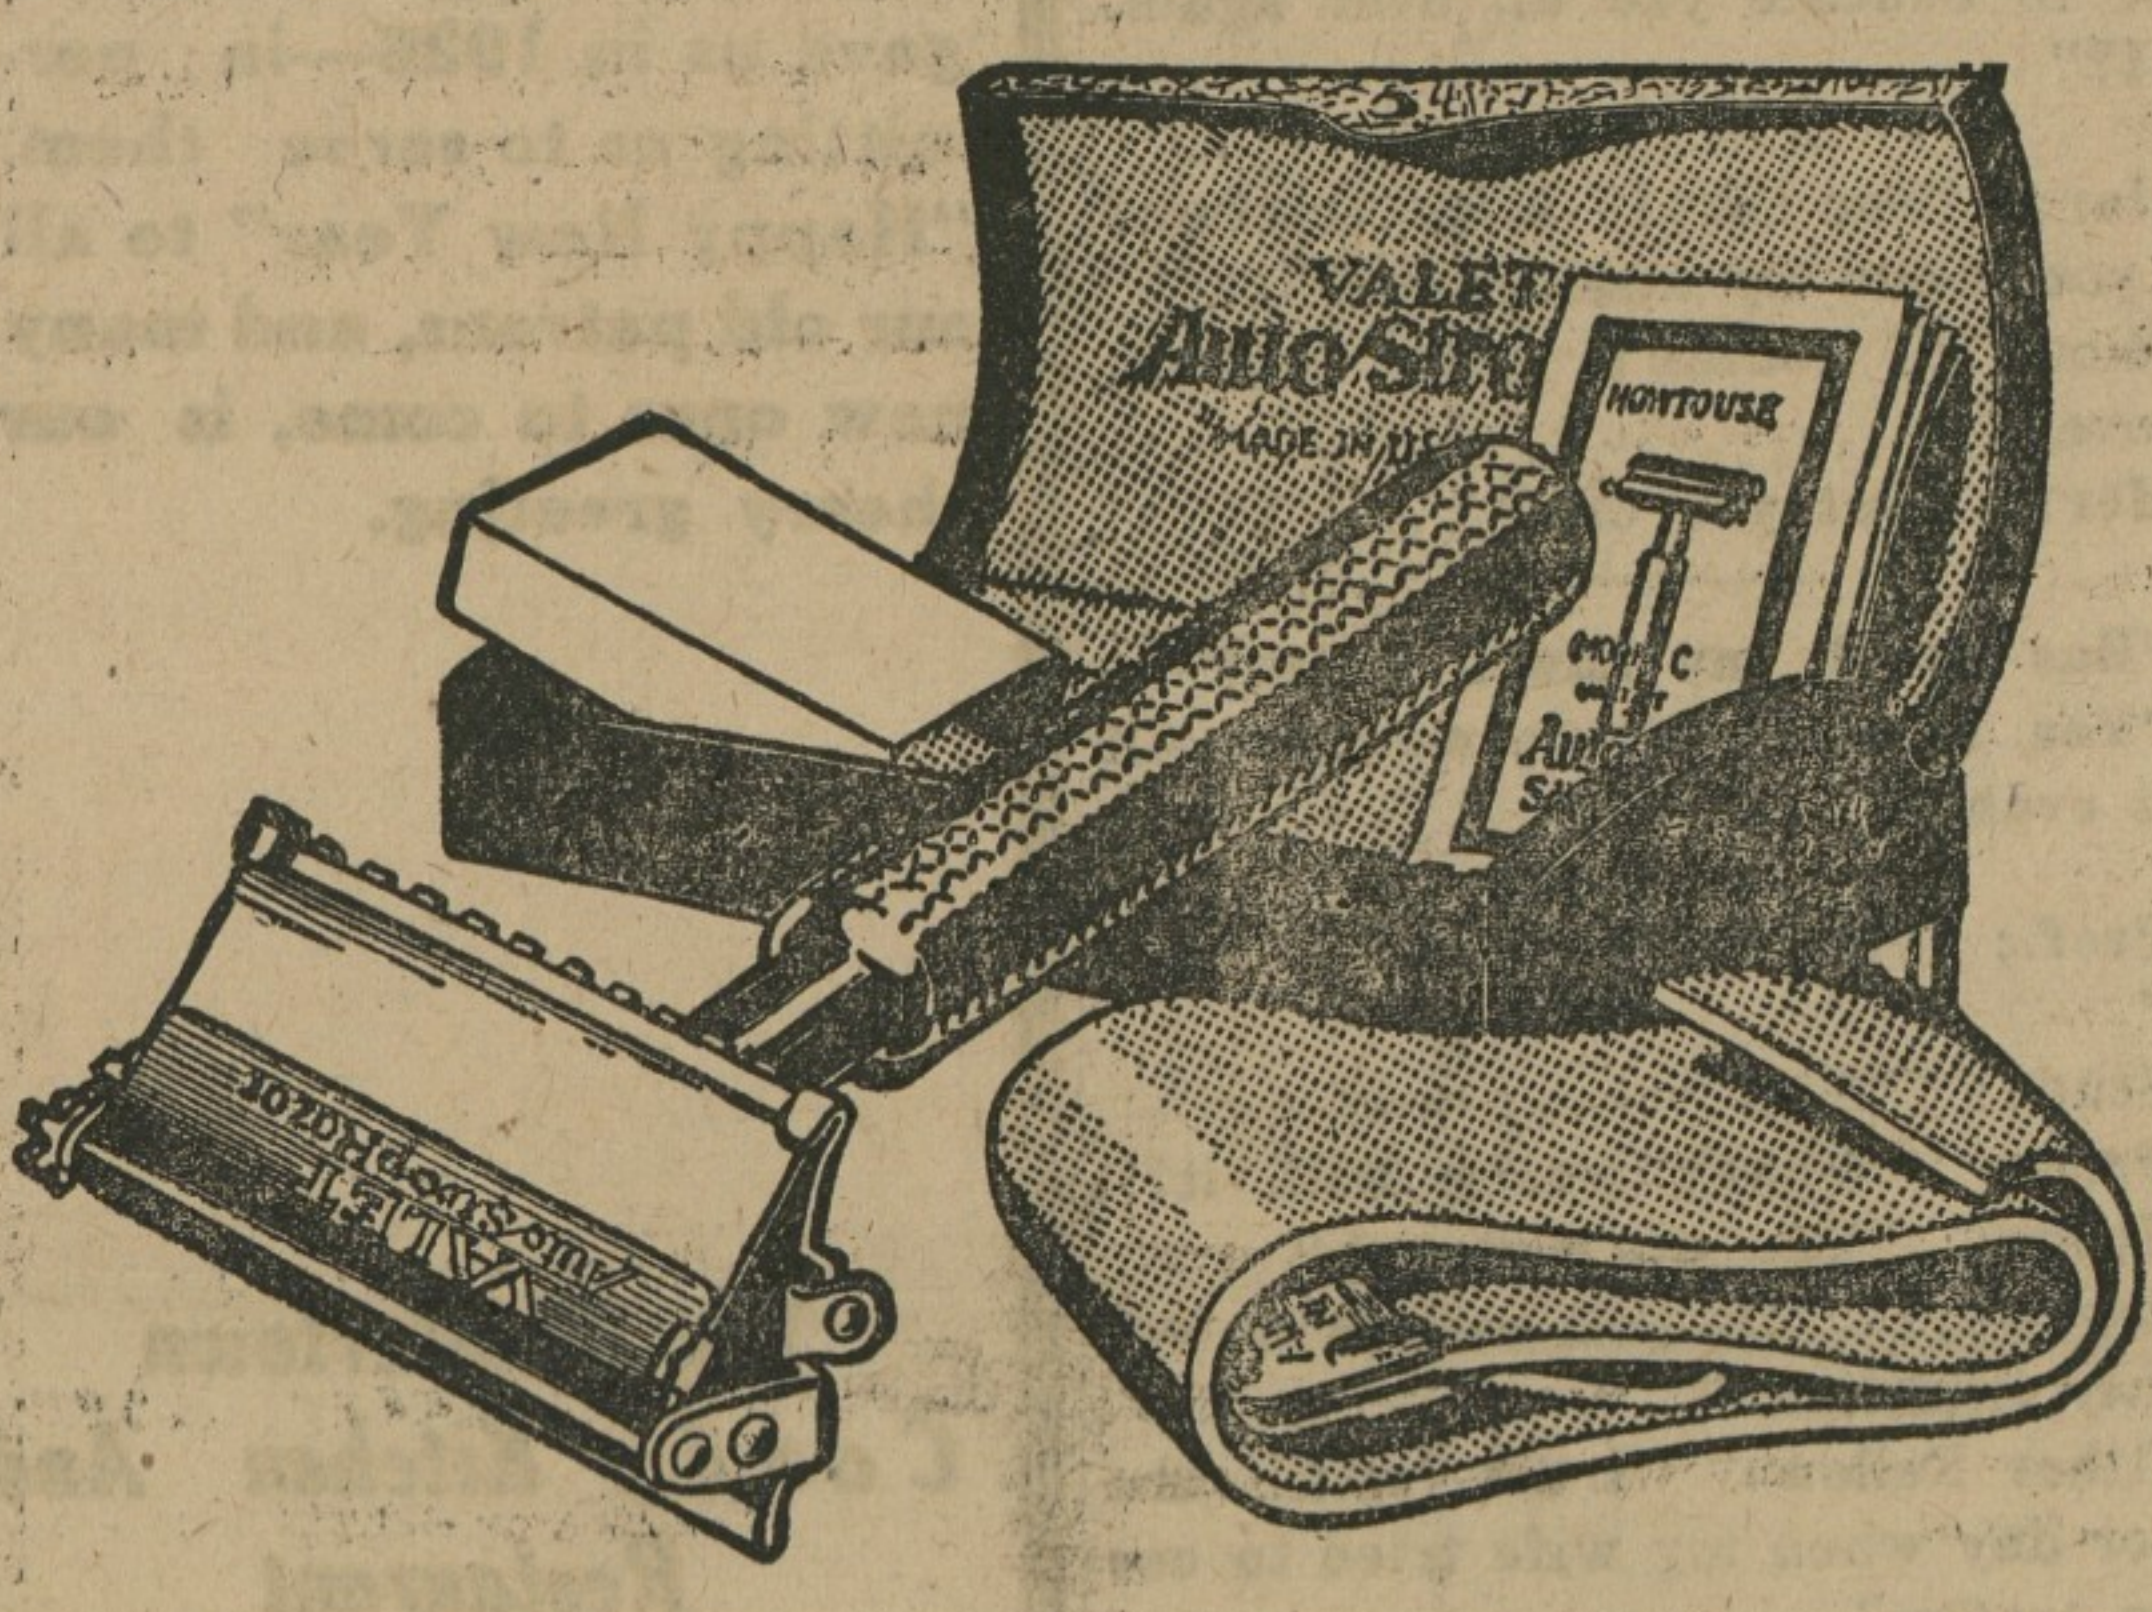

It is said that underground passages are the only way to save the pedestrian's life. That's the trouble—there are too many of them underground now.

"Why didn't you throw that four inch fish back—you know it's against the law?"

"It was the only one I caught, your honor—and I wanted to show it to my wife first."

Thursday I lost a gold watch which I valued very highly, as it was an heirloom. I immediately inserted an advertisement in your Lost and Found column, and waited. Yesterday I went home and found the watch in the pocket of my other suit. God bless your paper.
