Columbus Day was observed by the display in a few instances of the national flag.

Churches had splendid attendances last Sunday which was ideal autumn weather even if there was storm before and after. The Methodist Episcopal church was decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias for the services. The evening before the third quarterly conference convened and the present minister, Rev. W. S. Grant, was invited to return again next year. The morning sermon from Luke 12:15 and demonstrated that character building is a man's job and that material things do not bring happiness. The evening text was "Ye must be born again," from John 3:7. A duet was sung by Miss and Mrs. Grant and a solo by Miss Beatrice Berger. There were two hundred and twenty at Sunday School nine being visitors. The aim is still for 250. Each one is asked to invite someone who is not already affiliated with a church. That's fair to all and none will fail. The regular week day meetings are class on Monday, prayer on Wednesday, choir rehearsals on Friday each at 7 P. M. Early in November there will be a series of extra evening meetings and the intervening sermons, beginning last Sunday will be of evangelistic tendency.
