DEMANDS OF LABOR UNIONS

Federal Ownership Of Public And Semi-Public Util- ities Is Urged

Washington, Jan. 15.—Federal ownership, operation or regulation of public and semi-public utilities was recommended in the report of the committee on reconstruction of the American Federation of Labor, made public today after its approval by the federation's executive council.

Government ownership of all wharves and docks, federal legislation to prevent child labor and equality in pay for men and women workers, also were urged.

The committee opposed the formation of a labor political party, on the ground that "the disastrous experience of organized labor in America, with political parties of its own amply justified the American Federation of Labor's nonpartisan political policy."

Other recommendations by the committee were:

Legislation making interference with the rights of employees to organize or any attempt to interfere with the legitimate activities of trade unions a criminal offense.

The right of labor to fix its hours of work.

Maximum working day of eight hours with overtime prohibited, except under extraordinary emergencies and the week's working time limited to five and one-half days.

Limitations of tasks of working women to those which they are physically capable of performing.

No limitation on the rights of public employees to organize.

Provision for a referendum on acts of congress to state legislatures held unconstitutional by the supreme court.

Legislation for state and federal government to own and operate irrigation projects.

Legislation limiting and defining the powers of corporations, and extension of federal control of corporations to supervision of capital stock increases and incurring of bonded indebtedness with a provision that corporate books be open to federal inspection.

Removal of all restrictions on "free speech" individuals and groups to be held responsible for their utterances.

Extension of workmen's compensation laws to provide more adequately for those incapacitated by industrial accidents and disease, and state insurance to supplant employers' liability insurance.

Amendment to the immigration laws to restrict immigration to the capacity of the United States to "assimilate and Americanize" foreigners and to completely restrict it for at least two years after the signing of the peace treaty and at any future time when an abnormal degree of unemployment exists.

Increase in taxes on incomes, inheritances and land values.

Representation of labor on school boards and recognition of the rights of teachers to organize.

Co-operation of public employment agencies with trade unionists, and elimination of all private employment agencies.

Inauguration of a plan for the government to construct modern homes for workers and establishment of a system of credits by which employees may borrow funds to build homes.

Opposition to a large standing army.

Continuation of government pay to discharged soldiers for not to exceed one year if employment is not obtained in that time.

Legislation taxing all usable lands above the acreage which is actually cultivated by the owner, and giving aid in the allotment of lands for home building on the public domain.

Established of governmental experimental farms for stock raising instruction and extension of the program for reclaiming arid or cut-over lands and of irrigation projects.

STREET LETTER BOXES BEING PUT IN PLACE

Patrons Should Acquaint Themselves With Rules And Regulations

The Postoffice Department has awarded the contract for the erection of the Street Letter Boxes to Chas. F. Hodgkin, who was the highest bidder for the work, his bid being $11.20 for erecting the 12 boxes. There were two other bids, one from Samuel E. Cooper for $22.00, and one from John S. Vaiden for $30.00. Mr. Hodgkin began the work of erecting the boxes on Monday morning, and just as soon as the boxes are erected and the schedules are placed therein they will be ready for the reception of letters.

The public is hereby warned by the Postmaster not to place any letters in the street letter boxes without the required stamp. No letter will be accepted for mailing where it is placed in the box with the money. All such letters found in the boxes will be brought to the postoffice by the carriers, and the sender if known, will be required to place the necessary stamp thereon, or if the sender is not known the letter will be held in the postoffice and the addressee will be notified to send postage therefor. This rule must be rigidly observed by the patrons of the office, otherwise there will be an unnecessary delay in the delivery of all such letters.

The postmaster will notify the people of the town when the boxes will be ready for the receipt of letters, which will be not later than February 1.

At present there are 12 letter boxes placed at the following places:

On High street—At Corner of High and Front streets; at Bordley's corner; at corner of High and First streets; at Hixson's corner, and at Ringgold's corner.

On Front street—At corner of Front and Maple Ave., near the home of Judge Peares.

On Queen street—At corner of Queen and Maple Ave., near the home of Clifton L. Jarrell.

On Washington Ave.—Opposite the home of Miss Ida Crow, and at the intersection of Kent Circle and Washington Ave.

On Cannon street—At corner of Queen and Cannon streets, near the store of Herman Blackway.

On Spring Ave.—Opposite the home of Dr. H. Benge Simmons.

On Calvert street—On the south corner of College Avenue and Calvert street.

A street Package Box for the receipt of small parcels and packages will be erected at the postoffice corner as soon as it arrives.

Postmaster Bowers made a survey of the town on Saturday afternoon accompanied by Mr. Hodgkin and Clerk R. Frank Elburn, who is in charge of the city delivery service at the postoffice, and found that it will require three more boxes to properly cover the town. These will be ordered at once. Just as soon as the boxes are erected, the time schedules will be placed on the faces of them, which will indicate the earliest time the carriers can reach the boxes for the collection of the mails. These schedules will be tentative in character until the service has been thoroughly tested, in order to find what improvement may be made. It is hoped that the patrons of the service will bear these facts in mind in order to avoid any trouble that may arise in the service because of a lack of knowledge as to the rules and regulations. We shall give more details later.

THE UNKNOWN FRIENDS

We cannot count our friends, nor say
How many praise us day by day.
Each one of us has friends that he
Has yet to meet and really know,
Who guard him whosoever they be,
From harm and slander's cruel blow.
They help to light our path with cheer
Altho they pass as strangers here.

These friends, unseen, unheard, unknown,
Our lasting gratitude should own.
They serve us in a thousand ways
Where we perhaps should friend-
less be;
They tell our worth and speak our praise
And for their service ask no fee;
They choose to be our friends, altho
We have not learned to call them so.

We cannot guess how large the debt
We owe to friends we have not met,
We only know, from day to day,
That we discover here and there
How one has tried to smooth our way
And ease our heavy load of care,
Then passed along and left behind
His friendly gift for us to find.
Edgar A. Guest.

PRES'DT WILSON WHOLE WORKS

Declares Himself Ruler And Prime Minister Of "My People"

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Republican Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"According to report Mr. Wilson has announced his status at the peace conference to be that of a 'prime minister.' A prime minister is defined as 'the responsible head of a ministry or executive government, especially of a monarchical government.' Mr. Wilson has long been suspected of favoring a monarchical government, and his writings and utterances show his admiration for the British form. 'The English Prime minister,' continues Webster's Dictionary, 'controls the actions of the members of the cabinet and the ministers. He is nearly always the First Lord of the Treasury, who was no portfolio and has control over practically all appointments that might have an important influence on the general policy of the government.' In this respect we find Mr. Wilson running true to form.

"But he has gone beyond that. By his autocratic assumption of power he has arrogated to himself not only the functions of a prime minister, but of an imperial ruler. He would have us believe he is the State in theory, as dictator, and in fact, as prime minister by self-appointment. In this respect he has attempted to put himself not on a plane with the ex-Kaiser and the late Czar but even above them, for whereas their will was made known through the medium of a representative, who at least evaded himself a little latitude in interpreting the imperial desires, Wilson makes his own interpretation of his own desires at the peace conference, for, as everyone knows, the other members of the commission, and the 42 press agents, form but an escort more or less ceremonial while the Senate, whose Constitutional function is to ratify and thereby really make treaties is utterly ignored with respect to the deliberations which lead up to this one.

"In another respect President Wilson struts in a self-imposed rank far exceeding that of Lloyd George, the British premier. The British ministry goes to the country on the question, Shall the policy of the ministry be sustained? If the voters show their confidence by favorable ballot the ministry remains in power. If they vote against the policy of the ministry the whole cabinet, from the prime minister down, retires from office, and the opposition steps in. About a month ago the British ministry under Prime Minister Lloyd George was sustained by an overwhelming majority. Practically every consequential opponent of the Welsh Premier of England was repudiated. Thus Lloyd George becomes wholly representative of England at the peace conference. Had his ministry not been sustained he could not have attended as a representative of his government. On November 5th, 1918, the American voters had their first opportunity to pass on the poll-tax of Woodrow Wilson, dictator, and of a democratic Congress which had been the more register of the dictator's will. Both Houses were restored to Republican control, and the dictator himself had pre-empted the country in his appeal to the country of October 28th. One month later he embarked for Europe in state befitting an emperor to represent (?) America at the Peace Conference. Two months later he proclaimed his dual capacity of ruler and prime minister of 'my people.' The shade of Genghis Khan must have snickered at the shade of Thomas Jefferson when that announcement was made."

"CARMEN OF THE KLONDIKE"
A Thrilling Story Of Snow-Bound Alaska

"Carmen of the Klondike," which will be the attraction at the Lyceum Theatre Friday and Saturday, Jan. 24 and 25, is without a doubt one of the best screen dramas dealing with life in the great silences of the North-west which have ever been produced.

The story, which is thrilling and gripping, with suspense running throughout, concerns the adventures of a Middle West vaudeville favorite, a part portrayed by Miss Clara Williams, who descends her theatrical career to go to the Klondike region of Alaska and seek her fiance, Cameron Stewart, a young attorney, who has gone before her to establish himself.

On the boat she meets "Silk McDonald," who is famous for his infamy in affairs with women. McDonald is attracted by her and asserts in a rage, when she ignores him, that he will obtain her for his own. Upon landing in Alaska, "McDonald," who is well-known because he is the proprietor of the gayest amusement hall in Skawag, hurries ahead of the girl, and when she arrives at the home of Stewart she receives the greatest shock of her life—due to the trickery of McDonald. From that moment on, throughout the story, even when she becomes the dance-hall favorite of Alaska, known as "Carmen of the Klondike," to which depth she degrades herself in her reckless mockery at life, she believes that Stewart is a traitor to her love and does everything in her power to defeat his aims and success.

The scenic effects of the production, both in the town of Skawag and in the snow-bound mountains that surround it, are truly marvelous. There is not a moment in the entire picture that is not tense with suspense and replete with thrilling action. At the climax, there occurs the most ferocious, raging, hand-to-hand battle between two men which has ever been reproduced on the screen.

"Carmen of the Klondike" was written by Monte M. Katterjohn and was produced under the direction of Reginald Barker.

Want Improved Roads in Quaker Neck

Citizens of Quaker Neck have inaugurated a movement for the building of a state road under the Shoemaker Act. Already more than $7000 has been subscribed to the fund. A public meeting was held in Pomona school one evening last week with A. H. Covey, chairman and C. C. Brown, secretary, at which time $500 was subscribed within a few minutes. The dirt roads in Quaker Neck are among the worst in the county and the building of concrete, macadam or other durable road would be a great public improvement as well as an inestimable benefit to the numerous taxpayers of that district.
