No More Kisses for Yanks; French Now Shake Hands in Conferring Croix de Guerre.

Diplomats among the marines in France have eliminated one of the horrors of being a hero, the Washington Times states. The announcement was made in a report from marine corps headquarters, describing the winning and award of 13 French crosses to members of the American legion, known to the Germans as devil dogs. To be blunt about it, the news is this: "No longer do French officers kiss on each cheek an American who has won the croix de guerre. Instead the officer conferring the honor pins the bronze decoration to the left breast pocket of the hero and then shakes his right hand.

As yet the official files of the marine corps have not disclosed the name of the diplomat who brought about the change in French tactics in dealing with American heroes. It is understood, however, that he is an officer of no mean rank, who lately returned to the United States.

According to the information at hand, the first occasion upon which the French adopted the hand-shaking tactics of the American as an expression of esteem was in May, just a few weeks after a company of marines sent in to relieve a detachment of their pals had driven off a storm battalion of Germans who had tried to stampede them.

The men were ordered to a section of woodland to receive their hard-won crosses. A blare of trumpets greeted them. Then, after a few words of commendation, the French officers approached the Americans and pinned the medals. Some of the young heroes were ready to turn the other cheek, but to their surprise they found themselves being shaken warmly by the hand.

It was no surprise when the Americans at the end of the ceremony gave a cheer, and a strong, lusty one, too.

Thousands of Girls Cut Off Long Hair and Contribute It to Country for War Purposes

As proof of the sacrifices women are willing to make when their sentiments or emotions are aroused, it is related that thousands of girls, both in Germany and France, cut off their long hair and contributed it to their country for war purposes, says the People's Home Journal. The instance is not the first of its kind recorded in history, however.

An interesting example of similar devotion comes from northern Japan where a great temple was in progress of erection. Immense timbers were being hauled from the mountains to be placed in the building, and the work was delayed by the frequent breaking of the ropes. At length an edict was issued calling on the women to give their long hair which could be woven into ropes of sufficient strength for the purpose.

So generous was the response to the edict that two ropes were woven, one it is claimed, was 17 inches in circumference and 1,400 feet long; the other 10 inches around and 2,600 feet long. With these ropes the timbers were dragged to the temple site without further breakage.

FOR A LAUGH

Too Many Reminders.
Nevrich—Young man, I had to work hard for my money.
Son—Well, dad, enough people it our set are throwing that up to me without your talking about it.

False Alarm.
Effie (apprehensive of all raids)—Hark! What's that noise!
Billy—Why silly, that's only ringing in my ears!

The Timid Teacher.
"I'm glad I can go back to school."
"Fine. What an ambitious little boy you are, to be sure."
"That ain't it. The teacher in school is afraid to lick me, but ma isn't."

Quite Likely.
"If you try to take away a fat bone from a hungry bulldog, what remains?"
"Your remains."

Special Inducements.
"How's things in your suburb? Any civic spirit?"
"Plenty of it. Municipal bus meets all cooks."

Process of Obscuration.
"That man says he wants an investigation."
"I don't blame him," replied Senator Sorghum. "Sometimes the best way to cause people to forget all about you is to be investigated."

Celebrated Beauty.
"The advance man of 'Fiddle-de-Dee,' the big musical comedy booked here next month, says there's a $100,000 beauty in the company."
"What did he mean by that?"
"He was referring to the prima donna. Her latest breach of promise suit netted her a sum in the neighborhood of $100,000."

WOOL WILL LONG BE SCARCE

Life of a Pound of Valuable Product Has Been Shortened on Account of the War.

"Even with peace it is doubtful if our clothes will return to normal, in price or otherwise, until long after the war," writes Douglas Jaspersen in Everybody's. The necessity of rehabilitating the millions of men in khaki is already a problem. This vast army to be re clothed will be a heavy drain upon the world's already exhausted wool and shoddy markets. Then, too, the need of depleted Germany for wool and shoddy should further tend to increase the shortage all over the world.

"Ever since the beginning of the war shoddy has been disappearing from our midst at an alarming rate, while the production of wool has been entirely inadequate to the world's needs.

"In normal times the life of a pound of wool in its various incarnations extends over a period of years.

"But war, the most wasteful of all businesses, has changed the old order of things. Both the virgin wool and the shoddy that went to make up that khaki coat for some soldier are buried, with its wearer, somewhere 'over there' and will never return to duty for us again. And so, in a great many cases, the life of a pound of wool has been suddenly reduced from somewhere around six years to as many months. Wool alone can never clothe the world. It has been shoddy that kept the world's clothing bill down for many a year, and until the shoddy supply is normal again we can all expect to have more or less trouble with our clothes."

IN SPAIN, HALL OF FAME

The Name of Espartaco, Duke of Victoria, Has Been Properly Accorded High Position.

Fifty years ago Queen Isabella was dethroned, and Spain threw off the yoke of the Bourbons and inaugurated a new order of things, looking at least to the establishment of a constitutional government, if not a government of the people.

Espartaco, duke of Victoria, was placed at the head of the state. He had occupied that position on two former occasions. He aided in securing the succession of Isabella, and successfully led her armies in putting down the Carlists. In the insurrection of 1840, caused by the law suppressing the freedom of speech in the town councils, Espartaco became head of the government and was confirmed in that position by the cortes, and was appointed regent during the minority of the queen. He was deposed in 1843 and had to fly to London for safety.

In 1847 he was recalled to Spain and by the revolution of 1854, which drove the Queen Mother Christina and Narvaez from the country, he was again placed at the head of the government, a position which he resigned in 1856.

Espartaco was born in 1792. He was the son of a wealthy knight, commenced life as a common soldier in the Spanish army and gained his honors and titles by his own ability as a soldier and statesman.

White Light Best.

White light seems to be the most comfortable for the eye. In tests of the effects of various illuminants C. E. Ferree and J. Rand, as described to the American Illuminating society, have used kerosene lamps and various incandescent lamps and it appears from the results that the color of the light has a marked effect on eye fatigue. With the white light of the tungsten lamp there was the least loss to the worker from need of resting the eyes. The fatigue was somewhat greater with the yellow light of the carbon lamp or kerosene lamp, and greatest of all with the tungsten lamp having a blue bulb.

Some Benefit From Poison Gas.

Chemists are planning to use inventions devised to protect soldiers from the poison gas of the Huns for the protection of industrial workers in mines and factories. The absorbents used in gas masks may also serve as safeguards from foul gases which are generated in certain industrial processes. Likewise, some of the poison gases that American chemists have devised in reprisal against German deviltry, it is believed, can be used in the extermination of vermin and also for the destruction of fruit orchards from insects and other blights, such as San Jose scale.

Repopulation Problem.

The reichstag is concerned with problems which threaten the German birth rate. It is recommended to get the workers away from the cities, where they can have small detached cottages in which light and country air and nutritious food can be obtained. This course would tend to increase the number of births. It has been learned that about half of the mutilated soldiers are marrying women older than themselves, a custom which is pernicious for repopulation. To check infant mortality more children's clinics will be established.

Building Ships While You Wait.

A crew of fourteen framers, two foremen and four riggers in the Suple-Bulls shipbuilding yards, at Portland, Ore., built and placed in position from lumber in the yards eighty-nine frames in forty and one-half hours. These frames, being double, were built bolted together with sixty-four screw bolts in each frame, and two coats of carbolineum were applied before bolting together.
