The Selexart Pictures Offers CLARA WILLIAMS in

"Carmen of the Klondike"

A Story of the Golden North and the Titanic Battle Between Two Exceptional Men for the Love of an Enchanting Woman An Epic of Snow-Bound Alaska, the Golden Goals the Fortune Seeker

One of the most tense and gripping dramas of the vast and silent North, teeming with action and unsurpassed in the glory of its beautiful settings and effects. Miss Clara Williams, in the leading role, has been hailed by the critics as the foremost delineator of feminine parts in stories laid in the barren Northwest. The picture is built on a strong and gripping plot and is doubtless the most vivid drama of the North Woods ever screened.

THE KITCHEN CABINET To me, fair friend, you never can be old, For as you were when first your eye I eyed, Such seems your beauty still.

NE cupful of the small bits of beef left from the platter may be added to a brown sauce and served hot on buttered toast for a luncheon dish, making a most satisfying meal.

Roast Beef Sandwiches.—For four good-sized sandwiches, make one cupful of brown sauce; when cooked add one tablespoonful of minced pickle. Cut the cold roast beef very thin. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter or other sweet fat and add to it one-quarter of a teaspoonful of mustard; spread the bread with this. Dip slices of beef in the hot sauce and place them on the bread. Sprinkle with a very little chopped or crushed bacon and add the top slice. Serve on a hot platter and pour boiling sauce over all. To make the brown sauce, melt two tablespoonfuls of butter; add two of flour and stir until well browned; add salt and pepper to taste and a cupful of beef or thin gravy.

Beef Pie.—Cut cold roast beef into inch squares, using two cupfuls. Put into a quart baking dish and season well with half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, a tablespoonful of tomato catsup or one-third of a cupful of cooked, seasoned tomatoes. Pour over the meat one cupful of broth or gravy mixed with water. Cover with a crust made of baking powder biscuit, cut out with a small doughnut cutter. For this pie one-half a cupful of flour will be sufficient.

There is no more delicious way of serving cold roast than in thin, rosy slices on a well-garnished platter with any well-seasoned sauce like catsup, horse-radish, or cucumber sauce. Stuffed Peppers With Beef.—Parboil six green peppers for five minutes, then stuff with a mixture of cooked rice, and rare roast beef or steak well seasoned and chopped, and moistened with brown sauce or soup stock. Cover the peppers with buttered crumbs; place in a baking pan and bake with broth while baking. Serve with brown sauce.

VAPOR BATHS IN LAPLAND

Writer's Strenuous Experience of Cleansing Process Finishes With Being Bastinadoed.

In Wide World Frank Hedges Butler describes a vapor bath in the land of the Lapps. He says:

The bathhouse is a small wooden structure generally situated some way from the dwelling house. It is divided into two compartments, one to undress in, while the other contains the oven which produces the steam. The oven is arched with large stones or pebbles, and heated by a fire placed beneath. Undressing in the first room, one enters the heated compartment. After a short rest on a wooden form or bench, which contains a place for the head, the attendants come in and bathe you. Cold water is thrown over the stones and the hissing vapor soon sends up a cloud of steam. The higher you sit from the floor the greater the heat. As more water is thrown over the red-hot stones the vapor becomes so intense that one can hardly breathe. We were soon gasping for breath and covered with a profuse perspiration which issued from every pore of the skin. Hanging up in the room were tender branches or twigs in a green state and retaining their leaves. Dipping these in water, the attendant began lashing and whipping me across the legs, shoulders, loins and back, till my body seemed quite red with the switching. The bastinadoing over, I was then washed with a soft flannel covered with soap, after which a jug of the coldest water was thrown over my head and body.

Post Gray's Birthplace.

If a tablet is placed on Gray's "birthplace," in Cornhill, it should bear record also that there is no actual surviving birthplace of the poet, says the London Chronicle. The fire which, on March 25, 1748, destroyed the house that Gray had inherited from his father was reckoned the biggest London conflagration since 1696, seeing that in it 200 houses were burned down. In a very practical way one finds the poet summing up his loss in a letter to Wharton: "The house I lost was insured for £600, and with the deduction of 3 per cent they paid me £485. The rebuilding will cost £300 and the other expenses will mount that sum to £650."

Chamberlain's Tablets When you are troubled with indigestion or constipation, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its function naturally. Indigestion is usually accompanied by constipation and is aggravated by it. Chamberlain's Tablets cause a gentle movement of the bowels, relieving the constipated condition. Jan. Adv.
