

It Is Now Time

to begin to think about praying your orchards.
BEGIN RIGHT BY BUYING AN Empire King Sprayer
which is the most satisfactory spray pump made.
After we have supplied you with a Spray Pump then the next is something to use in it. We have found to be very satisfactory by such farmers as Mr. John Bell, Mr. James Bell, Mr. J. Thos. Smith, Mr. James Newman, Mr. John Newman, Mr. James A. Lee and many others. Mr. James A. Lee, of Sudlersville, Md., tells us that the inspector from the Maryland Experiment Station tells him that he never saw a better job done by anything or anybody as he could absolutely find no live scale in his orchard after the use of SCALESCIDE. What better recommendation can you want than that?

We also have the SUCCESS MANURE SPREADER which is a thorough rolling bearing machine, the only manure spreader yet using roller bearings which is a much lighter draft spreader. It is undoubtedly the best manure spreader made. See us before buying.

We are also prepared to furnish you with anything that you may need on the farm, OLIVER PLOWS, FARM WAGGONS, HAMES, TRACES, LINES, COLLARS, BRIDLES, HALTERS, BACKBANDS, etc.

If you need a GASOLINE ENGINE either stationary or marine we are prepared to take care of you. For the stationary we have the MICKLER which is simplicity in itself, and for the marine we have the FERRO which is too well known here to need anything further said. Let us figure with you on your wants.

"CHESTER JACK" KILLED.

Found In Harbor With His Skull Crushed And Throat Cut—Brother To Captain Jim Byron, of Chestertown—Police Investigating.

When the schooner Richard Linthicum, Captain Richard Brannock, shores her nose into the wharf at Eddy's Lake, on the Georgetown river, South Carolina, a detective from Baltimore will be waiting to ask her officers and crew what they know about the mysterious death of old John Byron, who has been around the water front of Baltimore 40 years, and whose dead body was found in the harbor Tuesday.

John was known among longshoremen as "Chester River Jack," and for the major part of his 64 years his reddish head of hair was continuously bobbing up and down where the boats make port. He was not known to have a single enemy, ever being willing to share the last of his few dollars with any good "pal" or even with a stranger worse off than he. But when his body came to the surface there was a broken skull, a slashed throat and great gashes on his legs, showing in his last moments he fought with all his might for his life.

Last week the Linthicum moored at Long Dock. "Chester River Jack" obtained employment as night watchman from the mate, Richard F. Jenkins.

Expected To Sail On Vessel.
That night Byron was in a merry mood at John Welche's saloon, 1800 Block street, and later said that he expected to sail with the vessel. The captain of the Linthicum took on two negroes as crew and shifted over to the Canton anchorage to await a favorable wind, and then sailed Friday.

"Chester River Jack's" absence was not noticed, as those who might have looked for him understood that he was sailing, and there were no home folks to expect him because he slept in a third-story room of a deserted and dilapidated house on Block street with only a few old papers for his bed.

Tuesday morning when Michael Clifford was paddling about the basin in a punt he saw something floating on the surface that aroused his curiosity, and he paddled over only to find the bruised and battered body of the longshoreman. Clifford sunk his paddle in swift deep swings and was soon at the police boat Lannan telling Lieutenant League of his find.

Found Body Cut And Crushed.

The Lannan was put under way and the body removed and taken to the morgue. The wounds plainly showed that Byron had fought hard in his last battle, and in the earlier rounds must have sustained frightful wounds. All that was left of his shirt was the neck band, the rest being in tatters. His trousers had been torn from his waist by one or more of his assailants, and were rent jaggedly by some instrument, presumably a hatchet, which had been used to cut down the old sailor. On each leg was a long wound. Then from the nature of the cuts it is presumed that as, or after he fell, he was struck on the head with a bludgeon. After this wound it would have been impossible for Byron to have offered any further resistance, but to make sure of the job a keen knife, which nearly decapitated him, was whipped across his throat.

The detectives were instructed to remain on the case, and Marshal Farman decided that circumstances tended to indicate that the struggle must have taken place aboard the schooner; that it would at least be well to examine the crew. He determined that the case should be thoroughly sifted and that finding "Jack's" murderers should not be left in the hands of any county sheriff, but that instead he would send one of his men to South Carolina to meet the vessel when she landed.

The autopsy revealed, in addition to the wounds visible, that Byron's spine had been broken, his jaw and ribs broken and his chest crushed in. The Marshal believes that after being murdered and thrown overboard the body was caught in the propeller or paddle wheel of some large vessel.

Other captains speak highly of Captain Brannock, and declare that if the murder occurred on his boat he would have put back and have reported the case.

Byron had told his associates that he came to Baltimore from Chestertown where he had a brother living, Capt. James Byron, and a nephew Mr. George Byron. The deceased left Chestertown many years ago but is remembered here by many of our citizens.

$3500 LOSS.

S. B. Hillman's Yacht Sinks At Betterton—Total Wreck Diving for Liquors.

Capt. S. B. Hillman, of Philadelphia, left his home last week in his yacht loaded with costly furniture, $500 worth of champagne, liquors, etc., for Cape Charles City, Va. Here he had bought oyster bottoms and was going to engage in oyster culture. He had sold the liquors to Norfolk parties.

Upon reaching Betterton he tied up in order to escape a gale that was blowing. During Saturday night the heavy sea caused her to pound on shore and finally sink and she is now a total loss. The liquors made the fish drunk!

The vessel was 60 feet long and the loss is estimated at $3500.

RURAL DELIVERY BUSINESS.

MASS. ERRORS.
In regard to Rural Free Delivery of Mail I will give you some facts in regard to our mails. Now I know that R. F. D. does not benefit more than one in ten of our citizens and it has crippled business in all of our little villages from which they have taken the office.

Now before we read R. F. D. the cost to deliver the mails in the county was not over $3500 dollars and possibly about $500 for the small offices now the R. F. D. cost not less than $12,000 besides the loss to business in our own little villages for no one can do business when he cannot get an answer to letters received in less than two days which he cannot do unless he takes his letter to some office on the railroad which is not always possible.

It has also been stated that $12,000,000 have been saved by closing post offices. Now it has cost the government not less than $50,000 to establish R. F. D. to save $12,000,000 and it only gives benefits to one in 10 of our citizens.

GOVERNOR AT SYKESVILLE.

Liquor Banished From Table At Springfield Asylum—Governor Meets Managers And Makes Some Good Suggestions.

The announcement made shortly after Governor Crothers had been inducted into office that he proposed to dispense with the serving of wine by boards of institutions caused some little speculation as to whether the Governor's "dry" idea or the established custom would win out. When dinner was announced at his first official visit to Springfield Hospital on Tuesday the members of the board, as well as several visitors, cast hurried glances up and down the table over two years ago had banished intoxicating liquors at board meetings.

"That is an excellent idea," said the Governor, and raising a glass of water, said, "This will never hurt you; it was made for man and there is nothing more refreshing, whether it be used inside or out, but what a different condition it creates when you color it with liquor. You destroy its beauty and put the devil into it."

UNIQUE ADVERTISEMENT.

The following unique advertisement appears in an old copy of the South Branch (Va.) Review. The undersigned will Tuesday, September 29th, A. D. 1846, sell at public outcry on premises the following chattel to wit: Nine yoke of oxen with yoke and chain, two wagons, with beds, three nigger wenches, four buck niggers and three nigger boys, two prairie plows, twenty five steel traps, one barrel of pickled cabbage, one hoghead of tobacco, one lot nigger shoes, one spinning wheel loom, three fox-hounds a lot of corn, mink and skunks skins and a lot of other articles. THE EXPERIENCE OF A POULTRY DEALER.

Only in recent years has poultry keeping taken a place among recognized industries. Many of the successful poultry men of to-day were not experts when they began, but had to learn by experience.

"In regard to Sloan's Liniment for poultry diseases," writes E. E. Spaulding of Jaffrey, N. H., "a disease called roup is one of the greatest drawbacks in raising poultry. It is somewhat similar to distemper in a horse. After trying and experimenting with about every thing recommended, I found that Sloan's Liniment was the speediest and surest remedy for roup, and I can especially recommend it for canker in the windpipe."

Send for Dr. Sloan's free book on Horses, Cattle, Hogs, and Poultry. Address: Dr. Earl S. Sloan, 615 Albany Street, Boston, Mass.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of fact. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and every an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood, thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, scurf, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 603 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.
