TO SPEND SUMMER IN ELKTON.
Governor Crothers will close the Executive Mansion at Annapolis on July 1, and will spend his summer in Elkton, bringing with him his nephew and private secretary, Emerson R. Crothers. He will reside at the home of Omar D. Crothers, Esq. He will pay frequent visits to his offices in Baltimore to keep in touch with the departments of the State Government. The Governor has stated that he will devote as much time as possible to the good roads movement. If he does not go to the National Convention at Denver, next Friday, he expects to be with the Good Roads Commission when they examine the roads of New Jersey.

A BLIND PUBLISHER
Mr. George R. Bellows Conducts One Of The Largest Publishing Houses in The Country.

MARRIED A KENT COUNTY LADY
The following from the Baltimore News concerns the remarkable man who furnishes The News special ready print service:

Sightless for the last sixteen years, and yet attending to the details of an extensive business, Mr. George R. Bellows, manager of the Baltimore Newspaper Union, 200 North Holiday Street, is a living example of what a blind man can accomplish. His business is that of printing newspapers for outside towns, and for many years, although without sight, he edited the matter that was sent him to be printed. He moves about his desk and in and around the great press-room with the confidence of a seeing person, and has so trained himself that he knows just where each step will take him from a given point.

His memory is remarkable, and as the morning's mail is opened and read to him he will dictate replies without having to refer back to the letter he is answering for a cue.

He signs checks, letters, contracts, writes down orders and transacts business with people he cannot see, in fact, he does everything that an up-to-date man would do with a flourishing business except that wherein sight is absolutely necessary. Mr. Bellows assumed the management of the Baltimore Newspaper Union twenty-five years ago, when his sight was perfect. The officers stood at the same spot as they do to-day. After seven years his vision began to fail. He could no longer read print, but decipher handwriting. Later he could not read at all, but could distinguish objects and persons. His vision was next confined to only the very large objects, such as horses and wagons, telegraph poles and the like, and then he became sightless. Oculists pronounced his trouble atrophy of the optic nerves. They were paralyzed—dead—and forever after he would be hopelessly blind. This awful knowledge did not rob him of courage. He tendered his resignation to his employers, but they would not have it that way and insisted that he was still the man for the position.

Mr. Bellows lays his success under such difficulties to a thorough system long adopted and practiced. He knows as much about where every dot belongs as do the men around him, and not infrequently when a press has gotten out of order and his men are puzzled as to the remedy, he will carefully feel over the parts and tell where the fault lies, and give the necessary advice for repair. In other words he says he can "see" with his fingers what many cannot discern with their eyes.

His sense of touch, sense of hearing and sense of smell have become remarkably developed. He has never met with an accident due to defective vision, and says he believes in a sixth sense—a sense that makes known the presence of proximity of a something that one neither sees or hears, yet realizes is there, just as one may sometimes sit alone in a secluded spot and yet feel that one is not alone. It is this "sense" that seems to hold him from harm.

Mr. Bellows lives at Glyndon, on the Western Maryland Railroad. He has a wife and two sons—aged twelve and three years neither of whom he has ever seen yet he takes them to church and out for walks, and rejoices in their companionship. He is fond of music, and in relating the keenness of his hearing he cites an instance where he attended a symphony concert at the Lyric. In the midst of the playing he remarked to his wife: "There goes a violin string. Look and see if one of the violinists has not stopped to adjust his instrument." And sure enough, the musician was looking with a woe-begone expression at the delinquent violin.

At home Mr. Bellows moves about with perfect freedom, and takes it as his special task to attend the furnace. He has never studied nor attempted reading by raised characters, as he thinks there is so little in blind literature that it is far more satisfying to have some read the current news and standard literature to him. He is of a cheerful mind—remarkably so for one afflicted, and says that it is the backbone of his existence.

"Most people," he contends, "when stricken blind lose all courage and life becomes a dreary waste to them. If they would only take their misfortune philosophically and strive for the best that is left for them, they would still find some pleasure in living."

His wife is Miss Parks, a sister to Mr. R. F. Parks, of Chestertown, and Mr. Bellows frequently visits his Kent County relatives.

CROWDS AT ELECTRIC PARK.
Baltimore's new $500,000 Summer park is now all complete and finished, and has jumped into popular favor by leaps and bounds. All those of the thousands who visit the park daily, the consensus of opinion indicates that Baltimore has now one of the finest amusement parks in America.

An entirely new amusement to Baltimore—"It," as it is called, was put in operation and immediately became a "screaming" success, for no sooner were the cars loaded with human freight and started in motion than the air was vent with screams and laughter from the occupants. The attraction consists of a spinning platform, and the cars are large, circular affairs, with heavily cushioned seats and sides. There is no rail or track to them, and the passengers are soon whirling back and forth, here and there, now bumping each other and then careening to the side, only to come back and go through the same gyrations.

Steinwald's Band plays sweet selections every afternoon and night in a handsome band stand, which adjoins the stadium, and in which the sensational free acts are presented twice daily, with a weekly change of program. This week are seen Delmore and Oneida, a very clever perch act at 2.30 and 8.15 p. m.; the La Maze Brothers in a comical acrobatic turn, at 3.30 and 9.15 p. m.; and the Four Lukens, a really remarkable troupe of aerial artists at 4.30 and 10.15 p. m.

The admission charge to the park is ten cents. The excursion department is arranging with organizations to hold their outings at the New Electric Park. The park is brilliantly illuminated at night with 40,000 electric lamps which are studded on the buildings, and the large crane represent a large water garden. The park opens daily at 1 p. m. and Sundays and holidays at 10 a. m.

Rev. Albert Chandler Dead.—Rev. Albert Chandler, pastor of the M. E. Church, at Bethel, in Sussex county, Delaware, died at the Bethel M. E. Parsonage last Monday afternoon, after a lingering illness, aged about 60 years.

His death was due to diabetes, superinduced by a complication of diseases. The subject of this sketch was admitted to Wilmington Conference in 1876. His first appointment was Hillsboro and he served in succession the following appointments: Sudlersville, 1877; Woodlandtown, '78; Parsonburg, '79-'81; Annapessex, '82; Delmar, '84-'85; Agleside, '88-'9; Kenton, '90-'1; Maryland, '92-'1; Townsend, '93-'8; Hurdock, '96-'91; Kent Island, '02; Smyrna Circuit, '03-'08; Bethel, '08. In early life he was united in marriage to Miss Mollie Godwin, of Crumpton, who has made him a sweet companion and helpmate in his ministry and a devoted mother to his children. Besides his mother he is survived by four children. Funeral services were held at the Bethel M. E. parsonage at 1.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning the remains were carried to Crumpton for interment.

Youth Injured by Falling in Front of Binder.—Last Saturday afternoon while Albert, son of Mr. Charles Legar, of Near Centreville, was assisting his father in harvesting wheat, he met with a very painful accident and one which will perhaps, disfigure him for life. The youth was riding a mule which was attached to the binder, when the animal took fright and threw its rider in front of the guards of the machine. The platform of the machine passed over the body of the boy. The thumb on the right hand was severed, with the exception of a small piece of skin. The thumb on the other hand was also cut to the bone by the knives of the machine. The left arm was also badly lacerated. One of the guards pierced the left leg and also the left ankle. As soon as the accident occurred Mr. Legar hurried his son to Centreville, where he received surgical attention at the hands of Dr. E. F. Smith, who found it necessary to take eleven stitches in the wounds. The doctor hopes to be able to save the thumb which was so badly cut. The injured youth is doing as well as could be expected.

CASTORIA. The King You Have Always Bought
Signature of J. C. Ayer & Co.

War Against Consumption
All nations are endeavoring to check the ravages of consumption, the "white plague," that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. Sold by all druggists.

Bad Symptoms.
The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extant has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement of each of its several ingredients, and such a large number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath.

In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address as above.
