Passing out of the to attract the attention of the tourist is the elevation of the tracks of this line in the city of Chicago, now receiving the finishing touches by the hands of a thousand busy workmen.

In writing about the advancement in railroad methods of the present day, one is overwhelmed with the magnitude of the operations that are changing the traffic conditions of the country. Nowhere are greater strides being made to bring about perfect results in the operation of a railway than is seen along the great Northwestern Line, which we will treat of in this letter.

TRACK ELEVATION IN CHICACO. The work of elevating the tracks of The North-Western Line in the city of Chicago, has proceeded so systematically and quietly that very few are aware that this Herculean undertaking is almost inconvenience to passengers or traffic. The North-Western was the first line in ers. It will pay you to see us for Watches.
