SHOULD WOMEN VOTE?

A bill has been introduced in the Maryland Legislature given women the right to vote.

Women are allowed to vote to a certain extent in Kentucky. Recently a Gloucester Point, Clay Bank and Allmond's registration was held in Lexington to Steamers leave BALTIMORE from piers record the nomes of persons, male and female, qualified to vote for several municipal officials. Less than 900 white 120, and 1 women were registered, it is stated, al office, 530 Light Street, Baltimore, Md. while nearly 2,000 colored women qualified as voters. The Kentucky law- T. H. MCDANNEL, Traveling Passenger Agt. makers have concluded that woman sufferage in the Blue Grass State is a failure, and a bill will be introduced in the Legislature, which is now in session repealing the Woman Sufferage act.

While we would like for women to have this privilege we are very much afraid that the same result would be in Kent as in Kentucky.
