Prices of Country Produce It appears that a premium of ten dollars had been offered by the amorous groom to any one that would procure him a wife. A needy old wag, and one that loves a bit of fun, set his wits to procure the wife, in which he in a short time succeeded: The parties met, the bargain was struck, and away went the amorous pair, attended by little cutit the procurer, whose only anxiety was now to secure his fee, and who swore he would have his "ten dollars." This matter being finally adjusted, by the parties giving their joint obligation for the payment of the same, the worthy justice sealed the ceremony by pronouncing them "man and wife" amidst the "roaring cheer" of the surrounding spectators.
