Sheriff Creamer then addressinfing of ved him, saying that he had received from the Governor of the State his my death warrant, and would then per- mir form the duty of reading it to him. Wor He then read as follows:

The State of Maryland to the Sheriff of W Baltimore City, greeting: Whereas Peter Corrie, late of Baltimore city, was convicted in are I the Circuit Court of Baltimore county at the of V December term, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight; and Leg whereas the said court sentenced him to be "I hing by the neck until he be dead; Now, therefore, these are to will and require, as also to ster charge and command you, that at or before was the hour of twelve M., on Friday, the eigh- mos teenth day of March next, you take the said that Peter Corrie from your prison, and him safely in I convey to the gallows in the city aforesaid, the in I place of the execution of malefactors, and bee then the said Peter Corrie hang by the neck obje until he be dead. For all which this shall be the your sufficient power and authority. Given under my hand, and the great seal of coll the State of Maryland, this nineteenth day of ited February, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and fifty nine, and of the independence] of the United States the eighty third. By the Governor: THOS. H. HICKS.

Jus. R. Partridge, Secretary of State. During the reading of the fatal in- "F strument Corrie stood firm and ex-of hibited no sign of emotion, other tro than that his face blanched. After lial the sheriff had concluded the prison-dis er remarked-"Well, I know my the doom. The Governor has given us in a very short day; he ought to have tro given as longer time. He ought to pay know that men brought up like we am were would require a long time to Th get into the right way. It was like con taking up young mules, which require a long time to break." The Al sheriff replied that as the time was ny short there was the greater necessi-the ty for making the best spiritual use of it. Corriethen again said: "The er Governor ought to have given us longer time." After a few more words, in which the sheriff told him that he would be made comfortable the while he had to live, the officers bid the condemned man farewell and retired. While speaking Corrie's voice be-
