THE GREAT SOUTHERN WEEKLY. The Family Journal for 1860. N the first Saturday in January will be commenced a new volume of this popu lar Southern Illustrated Paper. One year ago the Journal, was begun as an experiment to tain anything sectional in its columns, might be a means of freeing the South from its dependance on the North for its literary food .-It has been too long a subject of just reproach to the South, that her popular literature is almost wholly borrowed from Northern sources. This preference arises not from any lack of intrinsic merit in the writers of the South, but from an unfounded assumption that no good book, magazine or paper can be expected un less coming from a Northern publishing house To remove this unfounded stain upon the li terary talent and enterprise of the South, wa the great object for which the Family Journa was established. To aid in this high and pa triotic undertaking, we earnestly invite 'th co-operation of the South. We pledge ou selves to devote our entire time and energie to ensure the success of so good a cause.
