

with they helped him - He was hardly able to hold up his head. - was in great perspiration - in great excitement - & looked as if he would not live - They carried him up into the good office & he asked for water - but he would not drink it. - They held up the ladder to his feet & he threw his head down & his eyes he tried to take hold of the ladder & threw the water all over him; he had no command of his head. I am sure that he knew his taste - Dr Gay saw hold the ladder for him. - He sat in the chair, he seemed to prop forward & Dr Gay with one elbow propped him back - I never saw a person so before - that he had no little command of himself. - I never saw a person in deterioration. Dr Gay tried to hold water. - Dr W wanted to send word to his family - & to Dr Dyer & to Mr Prescott. - He mentioned his family a number of times - after speaking of his family a number of times - the Parker said
