

Upon I went to the Gaol a Warrant was sent into my hands on the arrest of Dr W. I went into the lock up below the Gaol office. Dr W. was then lying upon his face in the berth - apparently in very great distress. Dr Goy had some conversation with him, endeavoured to soothe his feelings, & desired him to be calm - as requested to get up. Dr W. stated that he was unable to get up. They - the persons who were then helped him up -
 - Dr W. was agitated - trembled all over - more than any person I ever saw before - & shook all over - and exclaimed "What will become of my poor family!" He was afterwards pushed him out of his berth, and up stairs by two officers & put in Chain. The two officers had to take hold of him & left him up stairs. He was nearly helpless as to the use of his limbs - & as appeared to be so. He was kept in Chain in an office. He called
