

I told Dr. B. all about keeping Dr. W. looking doors fast-locked - I need we open a door that I should go ahead -

I then went into Amoskolor room & then I found Dr. J. B. Jackson alone - I told him I was digging through the wall, he got up & came to me & told he felt dreadfully about it - He told me to go through the wall by night I hope that night - He did not tell me any thing about keeping it secret.
He told me if I found any thing to tell me what I should do, supposing I should find any thing. I told him I should go to Dr Holmes, He said don't you go there, but do you go to old Dr. Hixson in faunum & if there I tell me, if I am not at home write your name on my plate & I shall understand it.

In the afternoon I went to Judds the foundry man and asked him if he could lend me a crow bar, He would not lend me a crow bar. He asked me what I wanted to do with it. I told him I wanted to dig a hole in brick wall to carry Colchester water in. He remarked to me & said "I fear you do". I was joking about it when I spoke to him. I suppose he mistook what I was doing - I went to the
