

then talking. Dr W then asked me about a 20 s. bill. I told him I had heard nothing about it. He then said a Britishman at Cambridge Bridge off a 20 s. bill to pay a 1 cent toll - it was thought rather strange that one Britishman should have a 20 s. bill - that the Britishman had asked about the bill, said he got it of Dr W. He said the Marshall had the bill & sent it to him to see if he could identify it. He said he told them that he could not identify it. He then bid me good night & went off. - I wanted me to come back in 1/2 an hour or so into, & thought he should get through the wall by that time. I then went away, & was gone 20 or 30 into and then returned. When I came back I met Mrs L, & asked her if L had come up from under the building. She said he had & had gone down a sea for Henry Brightlow - - She asked me if I would be afraid to go down there if she would give me a light. I told her I should not. She went with me & then saw the direction where L. had dug the wall.
She then saw the hoop door & the way to get down. I ~~asked~~ we found my door locked on the way to the hoop door. I went down. I crawled to the hole ~~and~~
