The election at Annapolis, Md., in April last, resulted in the choice of Dr. Abraham tion "for or against the hogs remaining with- supply of in the limits of the city," was 81 against, and 80 for the hogs remaining. The great constitutional right of suffrage called was here exercised on a momentous question. But is it not clearly inconsistent with all the principles of the Declaration of Independence to make attacks upon any community without its having an opportunity to object. Would it not have been just as appropriate to ostracise editors in this way? Why should their pens be more sacred than those of the hogs? The editors may boast of Fonblanque or Leggett.
