The Leading Periodical in America!

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE.

NEW VOLUME-JANUARY, 1850.

A New Volume of this popular periodical will be commenced on the first of January, 1850, with attractions of unrivaled splendor. The number will be ready for mailing and for agents about the 10th of December, and will exceed in merit and beauty eny that has ever been published. To dilate upon the superiority of this Magazine is superfluous. Its fame is already spread throughout the whole country, and the intention of the publishers is to keep it in the proud position it has acquired, as the leading Periodical in America. The best and most popular American authors are regular contributors to its pages—the most superior artists are constantly employed in producing the brightest efforts of skill for its embellishment-and no expense is spared, in any of the various departments connected with its publication, to render it in every respect worthy of the distinguished favor which has been bestowed upon it. In entering upon a new volume, the publishers feel that the public requires from them no stronger guarantee for the future excellence of their Magazine, than their past prompt and faithful fulfillment of all their promises. Every pledge made has been entirely redeemed, and the assurance now given that their future efforts will produce results excelling those which have gone before, will be carefully

Suffice it to say, that the liteto give hive him a call before purchas- rary standard of Graham's Magazine shall be fully maintained; its pictorial beauties increased in a dewho have hitherto acknowledged its vast superiority on this score; whilst new features are to be introduced which cannot fail to command unusual approval and admiration.

Our distinguished artist, W. E. Tucker, Esq., has been sent by us to Europe, to secure, with the aid of American artists abroad, a succession of most splendid illustrations, and thus, with the aid of our home force, we shall present every novelty as it arises fresh to our readers.

Colored Plates, of great beauty, will be furnished to our readers hereafter, in addition to the usual steel and mezzotint engravings, which we monthly present to them. A series of plates of Colored Wild and Cage Birds. of rare beauty, are now in the hands of our artists. This is a feature which has never been introduced by any publisher, and which will surpass in point of excellence and beauty, any thing that has yet Cloth rooms up stairs-Entrance, south end appeared in any publication of a similar character in this country. We also purpose commencing the publication of series of "Arthur's Illustrated Nouvelletes," written expressly for this Magazine by T. S. Arthur, Esq., whose character as an author is so favorably known throughout the whole country. It is a favorite plan with some contemporaneous magazines, to boast of their size, and the number of extra pages they contain. Now, "good wine needs no bush," and our patrons will testify that as we are first in quality, so are we second to none in the quantity of intellectual fruit which we present monthly. Any printer may, by an easy calculation, demonstrate very clearly that we furnish a much larger quantity of reading matter than other magazines which boast more than we do-to say nothing of the rich and exquisite engravings which adorn our pages. This is a fact which is not to be disputed, and it is only wonderful to us that with a knowledge of it, our modest contemporaries are not a little more qualified in their beastings.

is a sheriff in Illinois who was ruther "taken in" in that region on one occasion, and "done for." He made it a prominent part of his business to ferret out and punish pedlars for travelling the State without a license; but one morning he "met his match;" a "ginooine" yankee pedlar. "What have you got to sell?—any- in Baltimore, to which we invite the attention thing?" asked the sheriff.

CAUGHT IN HIS OWN

"Yaes, sartain; what'd ye like to hev? Got razers, fustrate; and that's an article, 'Square, that you wan', tew, I should say, by the look o' your baird. Got good blackin'; 't'll make them-old cowhide boots o' your'n shine so 't you can shave into 'em. Balm o' Columby, tew; only a dollar a bottle; good for the ha'r, and 'assistin' poor human natur,' as the poet says." The sheriff bought a bottle of the Balm of Columbia, and in reply to the qustion whether he wanted "any thing else," that functionary said he did; he wanted to see the yankee's license for pedling in Illinois, that being his duty, as the high sheriff of the State? The pedlar showed him a document, "fixed ap good, in black and white," which the officer pronounced "all correct;" and handing it back to the pedlar, he added. "I don't know, now that I've bought this stuff, that I care any thing about it. I reckon I may as well sell it to you ag'in. What'll you give me for it?" "Oh, I do n't know as the darn'd stuff's any use to me, but seein' it's yeou, sheriff, I'll giv yeou about thirtyseven and a half cents for it," quietly responded the trader. The sheriff handed over the bottle and received the change, when the pedlar said: "I say yeou, guess I've a question to ask yeou now. Hev yeou got a pedlar's license about yer tows's?

"No; have n't any use for the article myself," said the sheriff. "Hain't ch? Well, I guess we'll see about that pooty darned soon. Ef I understan' the law, now, it's a clear case that yeou've been tradin' with me -hawkin' and pedlin' Balm o' Klum-

by on the highway—and I shall inform on yeou; I'll be darn'd ef I don't!" Reaching the town, the vankee was as good as his word, and the high &c., &c. sheriff was fined for pedling without a license. He was heard afterwards to say. "You might as well hold a greas-
