

to hear when the Wedding is to be, however she did not mention the time but as they say - I have a thought that it will not be long before they are married. I have often thought that if I was a Man I never never could LOVE such a girl as Fanny Wilmer, however it may be as well that every person does not think like, in that respect, we drank Tea yesterday with Mrs and Mr Jones and Mr Gouds Betty Smith was well and looked very well but Poor Sally is worse than ever, what is to become of her I cannot tell, but indeed I feel very much for her, it not seems to me as if she never will get over the Affection she has felt for - she says that she can't help it and shall be
